Frequently Asked Questions

Q: “Where do you deliver your programmes?”

A: “As a truly mobile consultancy, we come to you or to a venue of your choice. We can deliver our programmes anywhere within the UK and also internationally.”

Q: “What if we have a group larger than 16 people?”

A: “6 people or 60 people? No problem. We generally recommend a maximum group size to facilitator ratio of 1:16. Larger groups mean more questions, more learning needs and more individuals who need and deserve a trainer’s time. So for groups larger than 16 people, and to ensure the balance of content, learning and the needs of the group are maintained, we can either add extra facilitators to support a larger group or we split the group into separate, smaller sub-groups.”

Q: “What can we expect on the day?”

A: “All of our programmes, MBTI or otherwise, are interactive, engaging and with your needs and learning outcomes in mind. We use minimal to no PowerPoint and plenty of activities, exercises and, most importantly, your own life experience to bring the content to life. Audience participation is required and you can expect around 30% to be coming from us, with the other 70% coming from you. People learn and remember much more when they are actively engaged in their learning experience. Our style is relaxed and informal and we pride ourselves in creating a safe space for people to learn, to challenge themselves and to challenge each other. We will work with you to design a programme that meets your specific needs and outcomes.” Client Feedback

Q: “What if someone new joins the team after our programme?”

A: “No problem. We offer a remote MBTI administration and feedback service for individuals to bring them up to speed with the theory of the MBTI and their personal results. For more information visit: <http://www.developing-potential.co.uk/mbti-test-online/>”

Q: “How can we take the MBTI further?”

A: “Rome wasn’t built in a day. Using and applying personality type within teams and organisations isn’t a one day process, but it is often a good starting point. There is much more that we can offer to support your team and organisation’s development, to include the following; MBTI & Change, MBTI & Leadership, MBTI & Coaching, MBTI & Team Working, MBTI Step 2, MBTI & Emotional Intelligence. It all depends on your outcomes, time, commitment, and of course, budget. We will be glad to discuss your exact needs and requirements with you”.

Q: “What is the MBTI Step 2?”

A: “The MBTI Step 2 explores personality type and a person’s Step 1 results at a much deeper level. Under each of the main preferences sits five further differences, known as ‘facets’. Specifically, Step 2 looks at how we express our type through these ‘facets’. This is what makes similar types very different and different types appear similar. This is one way in which you can take the MBTI further and explore in much more detail the differences in type, communication styles, causes and needs related to resolving interpersonal conflict, needs in times of change and, therefore, the needs of your team and its development. Please call us if you are interested in an MBTI Step 2 programme”.
